

1000 QUESTIONS SELECTED FOR HEARING

When Edmond H. Moore, Cox's Personal Representative, Was Asked Whether New Jersey Liquor Interests Were Raising Funds to Assist the Democratic Candidate, He Countered by Characterizing the Anti-Saloon League as a Republican Organization—Senator Edge Issued a Formal Statement Asserting That the Democrats Had Failed to Substantiate Cox's Charges.

Chicago, Sept. 10.—Investigation of the republican campaign to raise funds in Chicago tomorrow will complete the senate committee's inquiry into the charges of Edmond H. Moore, personal representative of Governor Cox, that the republicans were seeking to corrupt the electorate by soliciting $100,000.

The committee heard again September 22 in some eastern city, as reported by Chairman Kenyon. The democratic members are to look into the charges there, and republicans favoring the investigation of the charges. The committee is taking an active part in the democratic campaign.

The widely different views of the committee members as to the results of the hearing were shown tonight when Senator Edge, republican of New Jersey, issued a formal statement asserting that the democrats had failed to substantiate Governor Cox's charges, and Senator Reed, democrat, of Missouri, also issued a statement of opinion at this time. "Is indecent,"

Senator Reed today asked that Charles F. Hart, former president of the Emergency Fleet Corporation, and now chairman of the republican ways and means committee in Chicago, be subpoenaed tomorrow to tell of the financial drive in Chicago.

Today's testimony showed that the practice of republican agents in the boosting the quota assigned them by the national committee was general in many states. "A quota," Charles Hart, former Methodist minister, explained, "is a target which we shoot, but we don't expect to hit it."

Charles W. Lee, of South Beach, Conn., told readily from memory details of the organization work and quota in the 21 states of which he has been chairman of the republican campaign drive.

Reviewing conditions in New England, he said it was the campaign "designed" of expanding quotas as practices in Ohio, Michigan and West Virginia. He cited figures which he said raised two-thirds of its quota of $30,000 in three weeks, and indicated that the amount assessed against neighboring states were expected in Massachusetts.

Mr. Lee said he had heard a rumor that the Nonpartisan league had a campaign fund of $4,000,000 in the north-west, but he could give no information as to the source of the report nor how the committee might learn more about it.

While Mr. Lee returned to his office for more papers the committee was left without witnesses, as Edmond H. Moore, Governor Cox's personal representative, although assured by Senator Kenyon that "we are through with you," he resumed his testimony before the committee.

Senator Kenyon objected to Mr. Moore making a "political speech" or reading into the record a stack of telegrams and letters from all over the country which alleged the republicans were raising large funds.

Several witnesses testified that Governor Cox's figures of quotas in many cities were correct, but that these figures were those they personally had set, and not those of Governor Cox's national treasurer.

Mr. Upham, recalled to the stand, said he took full responsibility for the defense plan outlined in "Form 101" to defend the quota. "Form 101" was a circular letter Chairman Will Hays' limit of $1,000 on contributions and substitute a limit of $10,000. The national committee, however, vetoed the proposal, he said.

He pointed out that hitherto the east has always paid the quota both parties. But up to date two-thirds of our funds have come from what New York considers the west, he said. "That fact, I think, is a pretty strong argument as to what is going on from what is called the 'Wall Street Influence'."

Edmond H. Moore, Governor Cox's personal representative, was asked concerning reports that liquor interests in Ohio had supported the republican nomination in the gubernatorial campaign four years ago, and charges that the New Jersey liquor industry was raising money to assist the democratic candidate this year. Mr. Moore denied any knowledge of the charges.

He characterized the anti-saloon league as a republican organization and said Wayne R. Wheeler, its general counsel, and other leaders were republicans.

Statement by Senator Edge.
The statement issued by Senator Edge tonight declared:
"I am convinced that the committee is simply becoming the vehicle for all types of business political charges and rumors for partisan effect in the light of the evidence. Governor Cox has been given even more consideration than his irresponsible charges warrant. It makes no difference what witnesses testify under oath, if such testimony discloses Mr. Cox at no time provided to verify them and apparently he one tells the truth but himself. The situation is unparalleled in American politics. Under such circumstances what can possibly be gained by following his so-called leads further? Governor Cox owes it to the American people to stand convicted of descending to the most despicable type of professional politics imaginable."

When Senator Reed learned of Senator Edge's statement he said in reply:
"I have no comment to make in our investigation at this time. The duty of the committee is to investigate and report to the senate what it finds when the investigation is over, and to pursue any other course in my opinion indecent."

Kiel and Evans to Play.
FOR AMATEUR GOLF TITLE

Roslyn, N. Y., Sept. 10.—Charles Evans, Jr., of Chicago, and Francis Oulmet, of Boston, each of whom has previously been amateur and open golf champions of the United States, will play tomorrow at the Engineers' Country club for this year's amateur title as a result of their victories in the semi-finals today.

Oulmet defeated Robert T. Jones 2nd, the youthful star from Atlanta, Ga., 6 and 5, while Evans eliminated Edward P. Allis of Milwaukee, former Harvard captain, 10 and 8.

Oulmet and Evans have met but once before in match play. Last year in the amateur tournament for the national title at Oakmont, Pennsylvania, Oulmet eliminated Evans in the second round by 1 and 0.

Both finalists outclassed their opponents today but the result of Evans' match was considerably more in doubt until Allis began to go to pieces on the 18th hole and had improved this to five up at the turn in the afternoon.

Evans displayed a fine course superiority over his youthful opponent. He was 3 up at the 18 hole and had improved this to five up at the turn in the afternoon.

A third putt which would have probably won a hole for Bobby was lost because of a bumpy lie. He was hunched over the ball when Bobby took his putt out of his bag. An official ceased his arduous duties of pressing back the great gallery and ordering them to keep quiet enough to hear the putt.

Referring to the putt, Bobby said to Bobby, was apparently not a physical thing but a psychical depression. He was not able to see the ball.
